

KLAES WEB BUSINESS

Anywhere and at any time!

Imagine that your employees who work outside your company can get all the important information they need for their daily work on business partners, articles, transactions and documents around the clock and from anywhere in the world. They no longer have to follow your company's business hours to get the information they need.

You wonder how this works? Quite simple: With Klaes web business and an internet access! With the necessary rights, your employees will log into Klaes web business in the future and can, for example, gain insight into the open items of a business partner.

It can be as simple as that. Time-consuming calls to the company and possibly associated waiting times because a certain employee is not at work at that time are a thing of the past.
